1. Reference Par. 7, Memorandum for the Record, 19

July 1946.

2. After contacting Colonel Mole, Room 2D 838, ext.

72810, it was discovered that Major Fandalls, Room

2D 838, ext. 73934, was writing and would actually give the one hour lecture called for in the Strategic Intelligence Course. Colonel Mole suggested that he be contacted in regard to any questions on the lecture.

3. Upon contacting Major Fandall it was found that he did not intend going into Communication Security. His portion of the course will cover Safeguarding Military Information, and will be in a narrative form based on the assumption that all of the students know the contents of AR 380-5. Approximately 45 minutes of the allotted one hour will be taken up citing current examples of violations of the release of information, such as the disappearance of a roll of film on Operation Corzroad while in transit to Rochester, New York, and the precautions necessary to prevent such losses. The remainder of the allotted time will be taken up covering several other important points of AR 380-5.

MEMORANDUM FOR RECORD

Course
SUBJECT: Speech on Signal Intelligence and Communication Security

1. On 18 July 1946 the following representatives of Army Security Agency visited the Office of the Director of Intelligence in an effort to alleviate certain difficulties and misunderstandings which had arisen regarding subject speech scheduled to be presented on 21 and 22 August 1946:

Mr William F Friedman
Lt Colonel Paul E Neff
Lt. George L. Smith

2 The first officer visited was Colonel Solomon the Assistant Executive Director. Because of the nature of ur visit and the questions we had regarding the speech he was unable to give definite answers. It was his opinion also that of Colonel Carter W Clarke who entered the discussion for a few moments that we should be very liberal in the presentation of information and facts regarding communication security and signal intelligence. In order that we could get some positive answers and suggestions regarding the speech we were taken to see Brigadier General Paul E Peabody Chief Combat Intelligence and Training Group.

3 The primary points under consideration were the following

- a Amount of information to be divulged
- b If the students as well as instructors would be cleared.
- c If the dead-line for submitting the speech to the D/I for approval could be extended

4. Upon discussing these and other related points with General Peabody it was decided that on point 3 g above we should let down the bars and tell all. We should give even Top Secret Information regarding past German and Japanese problems including Ultra. The information revealed should not include current activities and successes, however. Regarding 3 b above clearance proceedings would be initiated by the D/I on all instructors and students at once and it was agreed that similar clearances would be necessary for students attending subsequent intelligence courses at Command and Staff College. This latter development necessitated a postponement of the presentation of this particular phase of the course, since at the present time it takes an average of approximately forty (40) days to obtain clearances. It was further pointed out by Mr Friedman, that it was his opinion if the phase of the course on Signal Intelligence were given toward the beginning of the course the students would not be in a position to assimilate and evaluate the information presented. It was matter of complete agreement among all present that the better plan would be to present this information at the end of the third or fourth week (It was later learned see paragraph 6 that the first five weeks were to be devoted entirely to lectures and the last five weeks to research.)

5 In view of the foregoing and also because the speech as prepared did not meet the desired standards either from point of content or subject matter included the date of submission to the Director of Intelligence for approval was established with the approval of General Peabody for 15 August 1946

6 In addition to discussing the speech with General Peabody the ASA representatives were directed to Colonel Vannatta who was not as supposed instrumental in the presentation of the course He is to attend the course presented in the Pentagon and later be assigned as an instructor in the Command and Staff College Colonel Vannatta directed the ASA representatives to Lt Colonel Gaston who together with Lt Colonel Miller are coordinating the presentation of the course Colonel Gaston stated that it could be arranged to present the speech during either the third or the fourth week He further stated that inasmuch as we desired additional time to cover the material desired, the time allotted would be increased from three (3) hours to four (4) hours and would be scheduled on two days during the last two periods of the day and that the ASA would be advised of the hours selected This would eliminate any difficulty which might otherwise arise if the speech extended over the expected four hours or fell short of that time

7 Colonel Gaston also stated that in the one-hour lecture on Security to be delivered by Colonel Mole communication security will be covered He did not however know to what extent Colonel Mole would cover the subject but estimated the time allotted to this portion of the lecture would be a very few minutes

8 All points discussed with General Peabody were re-checked with Colonel Solomon and at this time we discussed what concurrences would be necessary It was decided that a draft of a brief should be prepared and presented through Captain Campbell to Colonel Solomon for preliminary concurrences stating briefly the proposed content and scope of the speech This brief would then be forwarded to USCIB for approval

9 Colonel Solomon stated that he would investigate the necessity of obtaining British concurrence

10 Upon returning to Headquarters ASA the results of the meetings were related to the Chief, ASA who expressed satisfaction with all points
